

Dear Parents,

This is the first of a series of letters to you about an exciting new beginning reading program called ALPHA ONE: BREAKING THE CODE.

In ALPHA ONE, the letters of the alphabet are introduced as personalities with a special and unforgettable characteristic from which they get their sound. For example, Mr. M has a Munching Mouth. Mr. N has a Noisy Nose; Mr. F has Funny Feet.

The Letter People put their sounds together and make words. There are no dull rules to remember in ALPHA ONE.

You can share your child's make-believe world of the Letter People. You might talk about the sounds they make in words. Help your child look for words that begin with the letters that have been learned. (Good places to look include books and magazines, billboards and cereal boxes.)

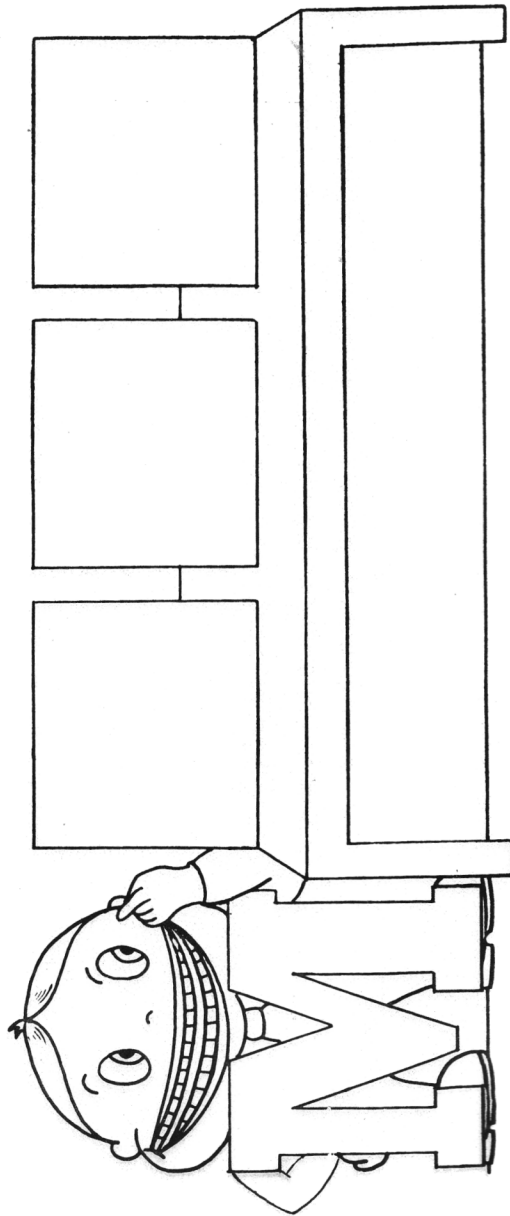

Help fill a bag for the new Letter Person. Only objects or pictures of objects that begin with the letter sound may go into the bag. For example, Mr. M's bag might contain marbles, mustard and marshmallows.

Most important, enjoy the fun and fantasy of your child's ALPHA ONE learning experience, confident that solid learning takes place every day.

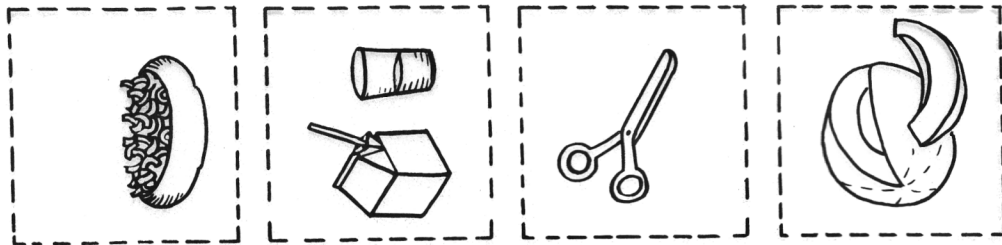

Yours truly,

P.S. The ALPHA ONE process starts slowly. It builds gradually and carefully. Please do not expect your child to be reading the first few weeks. Your patience will be rewarded!

Dear Parents,

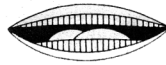

For the past few days your child has probably talked about his experiences with the first of the Letter People, Mr. M.

To help you understand the ALPHA ONE language, here are some of the secrets:

This is the Letter Person, Mr. M:

His special feature is a Munching Mouth

These are the letters that stand for the sound that starts Munching Mouth.

M m

In Mr. M's bag he has things like

We "prove" that words like mouse, milk and marbles begin with Mr. M's Munching Mouth sound by emphasizing the sound that starts the words and listening to be sure the sounds are the same. For example, we say Munching Mouth—marbles, and we've "proved it."

By now the children are friends with Mr. M. They have had the opportunity to identify Mr. M's sound at the beginning of words, and to recognize and write the letter M. These are difficult skills. Learning them may seem slow at first. You may be sure that your child will have many opportunities to reinforce these skills which are a giant step toward successful reading.

Yours truly,

Dear Parents,

Mr. T and his Tall Teeth has come to keep Mr. M company.

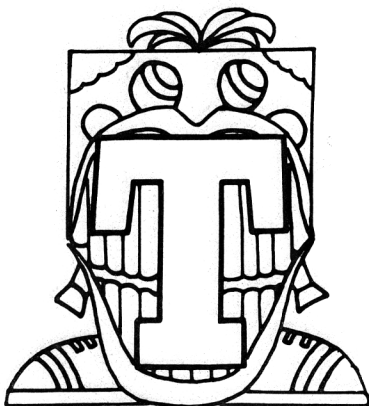

The children listened for Mr. T's sound in words such as tiger and telephone, and learned to recognize and to write the letter T.

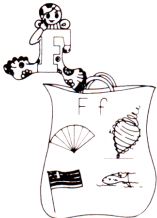

The children talked about things that are tall. For instance, Mr. T needs a tall toothbrush to brush his Tall Teeth. Perhaps you and your child can find other things that are tall or short.

Mr. T's lesson about Tarleton the Turkey gave the children a good opportunity to make judgments and to talk about their thoughts and ideas.

Thinking, talking and listening build a strong foundation for reading and understanding.

Yours truly,

Put objects in the sack only when it starts with the letter F. Do not keep objects in the F sack.

Dear Parents,

Mr. F and his Funny Feet has come to class. Now there are three Letter People, Mr. M, Mr. T, Mr. F.

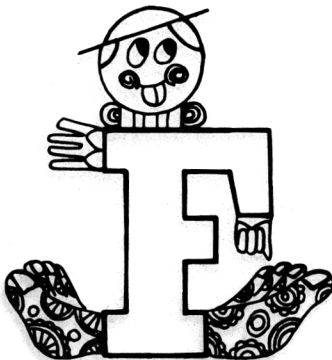

As the children get used to listening for letter sounds, their ears become sharper. They are now discriminating among the sounds that M, T, and F make in the beginning of words.

This is good training for the time the children start putting different letter sounds together to make words.

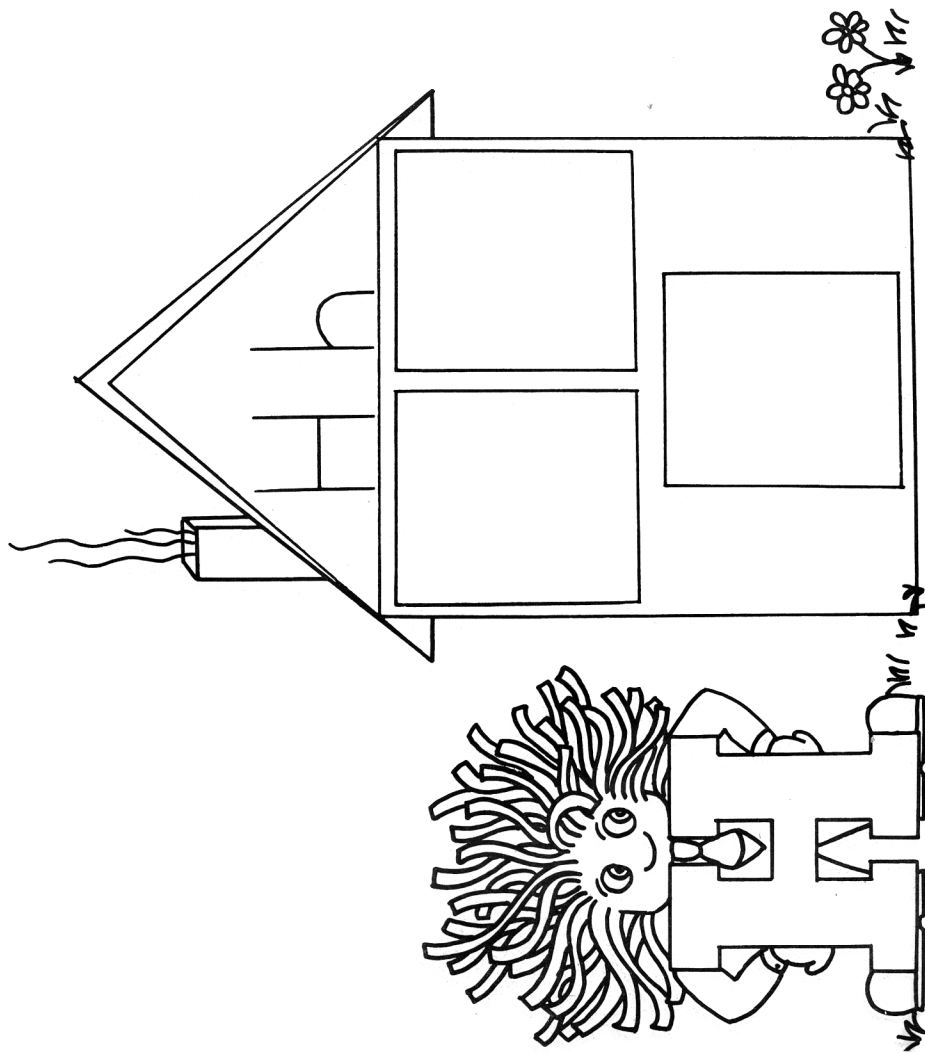

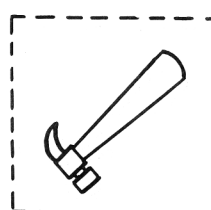

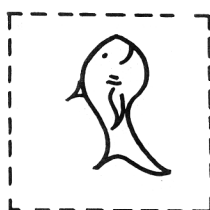

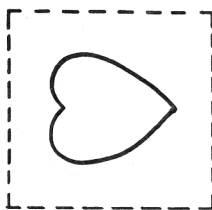

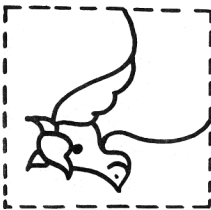

One of Mr. F's poems about a foolish fish gave the children a good opportunity to interpret and talk about emotions, and to draw conclusions from given facts. They also dramatized the poem with the Alpha puppets, Chitter and Chatter.

All these are important reading comprehension skills which will help the children have a good understanding of what they read.

Let your child tell you why it is important for things and people to be different from each other.

NAME _____

Dear Parents,

Two more Letter People have joined the class. Mr. H with his Horrible Hair, and Mr. N with his Noisy Nose. That makes five Letter Boys, each of whom has an exaggerated part of his body that makes him different from the others.

The children discussed the problems of the Letter People and thought of solutions. They agreed that people should make the best of what they are, and that they should accept and like each other no matter how they look.

The Letter People say:

Certain things about us we cannot change;
The way we're born we can't arrange.
Maybe someone else we'd rather be,
But that's impossible for you or me.
How we look on the outside is not the only thing;
How we feel inside is the most important thing.

Yours truly,

P.S. The next Letter Person to come to class will be a special surprise. Can your child guess what the surprise might be?

Dear Parents,

With the introduction of Miss A and her ă sound from her ă' choo sneeze, the children have made a giant step forward.

A is the first vowel sound the children have learned, and they have heard it not only in the beginning of words such as apple and astronaut, but also in the middle of words such as man, hat and tan.

For the first time, also, the children have connected letter sounds to make words through "The Catch Me Game."

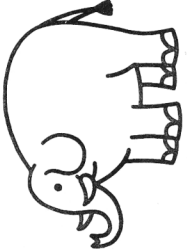

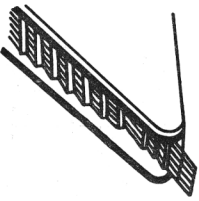

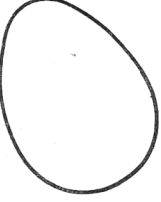

We hope you are pleased with your child's progress and that you are sharing in the pleasure he has in learning.

Dear Parents,

The Letter Girls, Miss A, Miss E, Miss I, Miss O and Miss U have all arrived.

The Letter Girls (vowels) make it possible to connect letter sounds in order to make words such as man, bet, zip, hot and fun.

Most of the words we have learned can be decoded, but some words don't make the sounds that are expected of them. These sight-words are called Runaway Words. Ask your child to tell you what some of these are.

So far only the short vowel sounds have been introduced. Later on we will talk about the long sounds vowels make.

Have you seen your child's first reading book SAM? This book prepared the way for reading stories in the Alpha Land readers.

The Letter Girls will get their long sounds in a later part of the ALPHA ONE program.

Dear Parents,

Mr. C and his Cotton Candy has arrived. Your child has written a C on things that begin with the same sound as Cotton Candy.

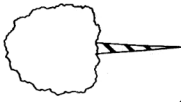

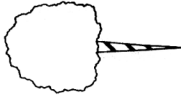

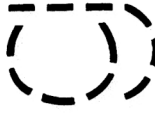

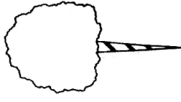

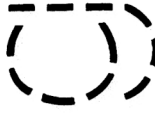

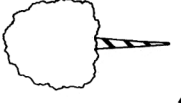

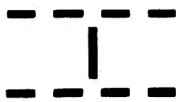

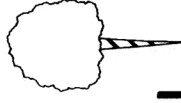

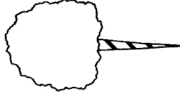

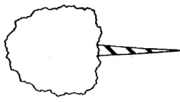

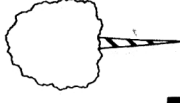

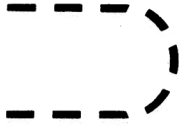

By now your child can decode words that combine sounds of any of the 18 letters that have come to class including consonant combinations ("squooches").

Have you heard about the stories your child has been reading in Alpha Land?

Yours truly,

Dear Parents,

The last of the Letter People, Mr. X and Mr. Q, have arrived.

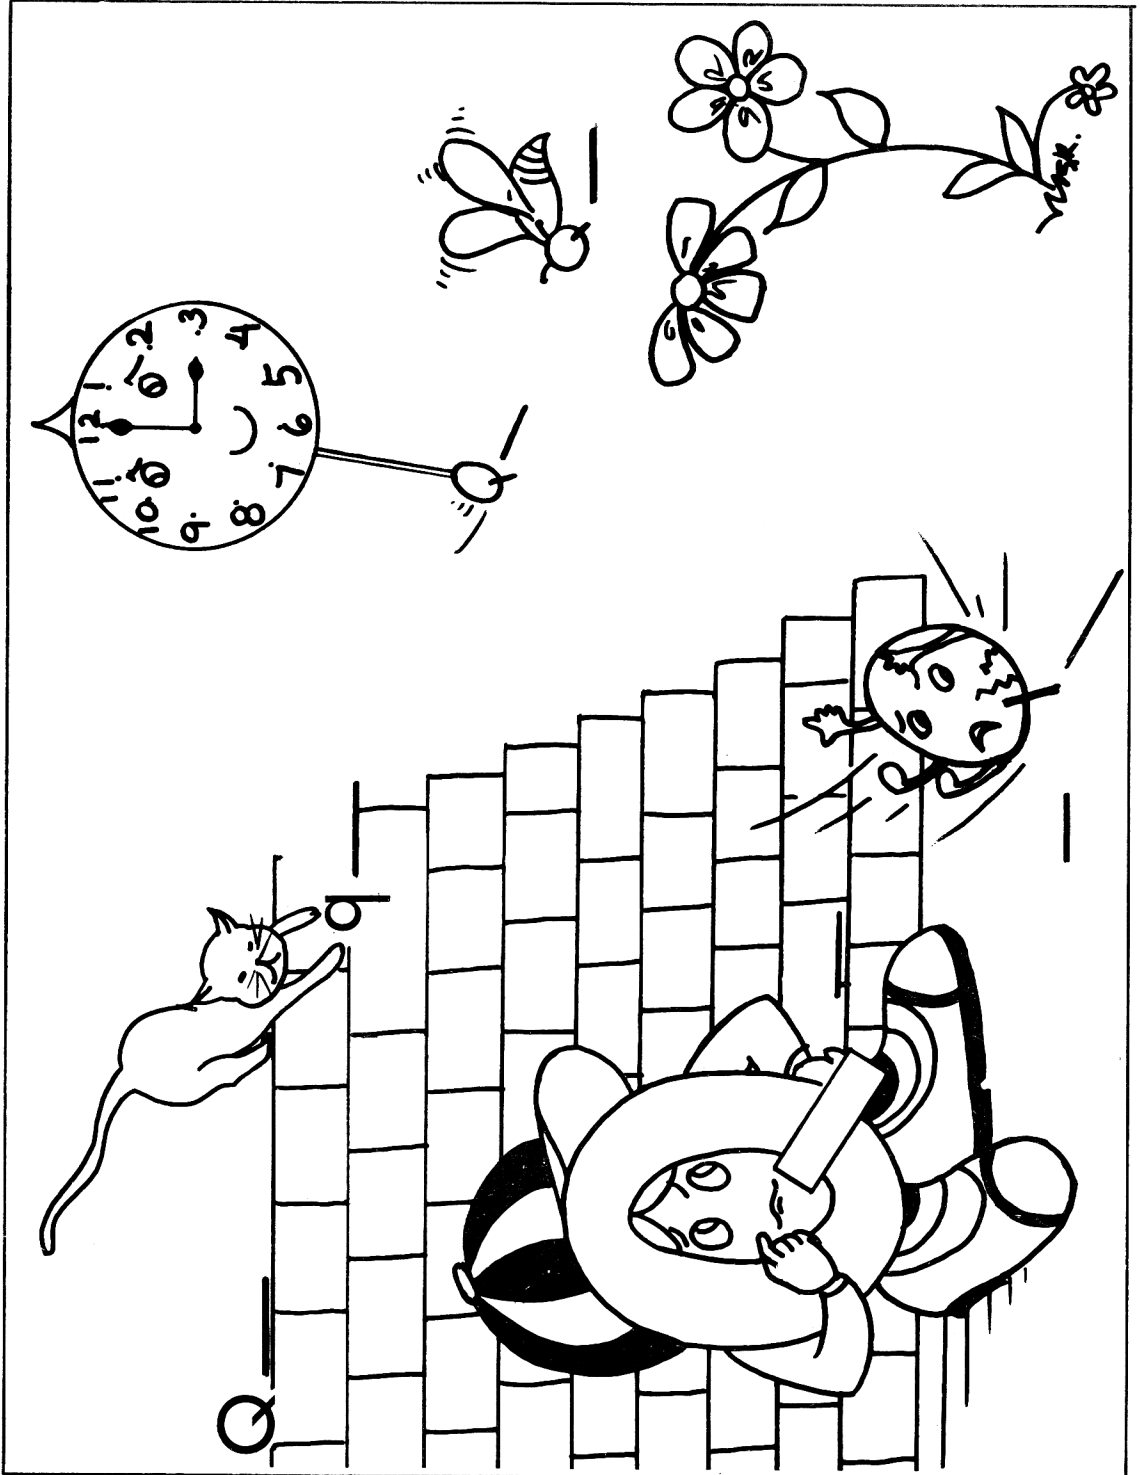

Now that all twenty-six Letter People are here, they may be put in alphabetical order.

You might want to discuss with your child the importance of knowing alphabetical order in such things as using the dictionary, telephone books and the library.

Very truly yours,
